

2006
FACULTY AWARD

Stephanie E. Barasch

Stephanie Barasch is a senior Physical Therapy major, Dance minor from Cincinnati, OH. She became interested in physical therapy as a young dancer who hurt her back and had to attend PT. She knew that someday she would want to work with dancers in a similar setting.

An especially memorable experience Stephanie has had while attending Ithaca College was traveling to Israel with four other IC students on a Birthright trip during her sophomore year. Traveling all over the country while being submersed in the culture and history of Israel was an amazing and unique experience.
