

From left, Ben Furnas and Bill Kenkel, members of Cornell's skit comedy team, Skits-O-Phrenics, react in terror as their lobster friend is chopped into bits at the IC Comedy Festival on Friday night.

NIGHTS

full of laughs

Local student comedy clubs perform skits, improv games and stand-up at the IC Comedy Festival

PHOTOS BY PAT WELLS
ASSISTANT PHOTO EDITOR

Above: Junior Eric Dittelman, a member of the IC Comedy Club and Ithaca Improv, introduces junior Jim Cartwright. Cartwright was the last act to perform stand-up on Saturday night. Below: From left, freshmen Michelle Rueda and Dana Shapiro laugh at the festival's entertainment. The audience completely filled IC Square both nights of the festival.

Sophomore Mark Hejduk, left, of Ithaca Improv, and Noah Brozinsky, right, drag John Schemitsch, center, across the stage in a final improv game of Freeze. Brozinsky and Schemitsch are both members of Cornell's The Whistling Shrimp. Three comedy groups joined for Freeze on Friday night.