

A. VERVILLE FELLOWSHIP

The Fellowship is open to all interested candidates who can provide a critical analytical approach to major trends, developments and accomplishments in some aspect of aviation and/or space history. The Verville Fellow is required to: write a series of articles or a book as outlined in his or her proposal, make at least one "work-in-progress" staff presentation on his/her topic, report regularly to the Smithsonian advisor, maintain research expenditure records, and prepare a summary report at the end of the term.

Award

The A. Verville Fellowship is appointed full-time for a period of 9 to 12 consecutive months, normally beginning between June 1 and October 1. Residence in the Washington, D.C., metropolitan area during the fellowship term is a requirement of the Fellowship. The stipend for the award is $45,000 for 12 months. Fellows are eligible to receive travel and research allowances.

Eligibility

An advanced degree is not required. Good writing skills are required.
