

How to use “Assessments History” to view other assessments:

Once a rubric has been completed by the student, as in their self-evaluation, you can simply click on the Student’s name to view how they completed it. To view how the supervisor completed the rubric, you can use “Assessments History.”

If you need to redo your assessment of the student, you can use “undo” to erase your prior work and then follow the steps in “Completing an Assessment rubric” to redo and submit your revised rubric.

VERSION 1

Instructor	Instructor: No assessment started	Feb 04, 2025 at 11:51 AM
Supervisor	Glen Robertson	Feb 04, 2025 at 03:17 PM
Mentor	John Doe	Jul 09, 2025 at 11:17 AM

To the mentor and supervisor assessor: After observing your student candidate at the midpoint and final of the block, you will assess the student teaching candidate using the following rubrics. The first is aligned with the InTasc teaching standards and is used universally across all teacher preparation programs at Ithaca College. The second is an assessment of the skills and knowledge for an aspiring music educator in Band/Orchestra.

You can download a copy of each rubric to refer to while observing.

Intention of this Formative Assessment

This is intended to be a formative assessment of the student teacher's current skills and abilities. This form should be used as a reference for Ithaca College's expectations of an emerging educator in each content area.

This formative assessment is only one measure upon which the student teacher's grade is based (i.e. "meets expectations" on every indicator does not equal an "A" in student teaching). Please base the assessment on your observations of the student teacher's performance and behaviors.

If there are two rubrics to complete, as in Music Education, you can scroll down on the right to access the second rubric. You will not be able to view the supervisor's rubric until both of you have submitted as indicated by the purple bar under the assessment on your "in progress" screen. (A green bar indicates an assessment is still awaiting completion by you or the other evaluator.)
